“ Ben your one of the best souls I've met here in this life. You made clear your love for me as a person and as a friend. Always there when nobody else was. No matter if we had a fight if we called you answered. Never did I question how you felt. We came here together and built a relationship with one another that brought me the memories I'm left with. I can't believe I won't ever see you again and your gone. I miss you and much love forever.. I'll never forget certain things you told me that only me and you have. Your heart..I'll never forget. I know your still looking out and always watching as you were down here. wish I could have said so many things but you already knew. RIP Ben. I miss you crazy. Love you. Show Heaven how H-Town does it💕💕 see you soon. It's only sadness for us left behind. You deserve all Heaven has to offer! You and your mom deserve it all and get it together
