“ I recall going to elementary and high school with George. We built push carts and raced them at the school playground across the street from where George lived with his parents and his sister Kathleen on 5th and Oak Streets in O’Fallon. I recall going to the roller rink on 2nd and Cherry Streets on weekends with George. I remember him as an all around good childhood friend and when he would come to hang out with me he would holler “Oh John” instead of knocking on the door. I last saw George at the O’Fallon Home Coming picnic around 1967 or 1968 when he came home on leave from the Army after boot camp. My condolences go out to his family.
