“ I remember Glenda Sherman Wyatt (& Bob) very well. Glenda and I were close friends while attending Southern Illinois University. We shared many experiences together. Her smile and laughter were unique. We lived together (platonically) in a Carbondale home. Listening to Carol King records and her cabbage (with bacon) side dish a supreme delicacy. Robert (Bob) & I also saw each other often as Robert became Glenda's beau. They were a fabulous couple and I witnessed a true love that grew into a marriage. Glenda and I traveled to Pinckneyville to obtain a puppy from a litter her friend had and on the way home my untrusty VW broke-down. Hitchhiked the rest of the way.with laughter all the way back to Carbondale. When I heard of Glenda's passing, I broke down and cried because Glenda was a true friend & an Intelligent,caring woman that I will always remember. I was happy to know that Robert and Glenda built a life together and her children and marriage very lucky that God gave her to them. God bless the Wyatts . Glenda will always be in my heart. I close my eyes and hear her voice. I was fortunate to have known her. Truly a gift to those of us who knew her. Adios my friend. We shall all meet again when God & the Great Spirit calls us.

“ My sympathy to Glenda's family. I knew her mother and family living very close to Uncle John and Aunt Kate. My parents were Joe and Theresa Schubert.

“ I worked with Glenda at General John A. Logan. She was a very dedicated teacher and went above and beyond to help her students. I saw her a couple of times since her retirement, and she was so optimistic about the future and looking forward to the new grandbaby. We are out of town and won't be able to attend her services, but my thoughts and prayers will be present for Glenda and her family. I truly admired Glenda's courage in life, and her gentle soul. She will be missed.

“ I worked with Glenda from the time she began teaching in Murphysboro. She was so proud of her students and her daughters. She would beam with joy as she talked about their special achievements. I will always remember her with a smile.
