“ Jeff, I met you through Lynn Clutts, and only knew you, for a few short years. You were an exceptional talent, though; one of the most beautiful voices I have ever heard! I really enjoyed singing with you, and Lynn, both at your house, and at karaoke. You will be missed! Heaven has another glorious voice, in the Angel Choir! Hugs and prayers for Fran, ❤️❤️🙏🙏🙏 and the rest of your family. Darla Loftus, Carterville, IL

“ In 1962 we became instant friends. We spent every moment we could together, roaming Carbondale, at each other's house or just playing in one of the many fields we found our way to. Jeff was as adventurous as I so sometimes our adventures landed us in hot water with our parents for our minor fun-loving indiscretions. One time they had a pet expo at the local National Guard Armory. It had dogs and a crowd, so Jeff and I had to go. Just so happened that the dog food vendors were handing out dog biscuits and we got some. Not sure who's idea it was but we decided to walk around and snack on them as well as offer others a snack as well. After a while someone must have complained because we were asked to leave. It was fun though, that was just one of many of our many antics. We lost touch for a while when Jeff's dad J.D. rejoined the army and they moved to Germay. Yes, we did get back together, we always seemed to find our way back into each other's lives no matter how long or many miles separated us. Jeff and Fran also introduced my wife of 45 years to me when Fran was in nurses training with her. I am humbled and enormously proud to have called him my Best Friend for all these years and I miss him terribly already. May comfort and grace abound for all of his family.
