“ Jodie, while I didn't really know you growing up like Carla did, I am happy that we got to know you while living with Carla & Jon. You always had special treats for us and we always looked forward to your gourmet meals. We will be missing your humor, your laughs, your wittiness, and sharing whiskey and music with you on your cabin porch. Cheers to you, Dear Jodie, fly high, spoil all those fur babies and be pain free. Love you Girlfriend!

“ I met Jodie in 6th grade as a new kid at school. She was always kind and to me and invited me to her birthday sleep over! I was one of the "cool kids". We continued our friendship through junior and senior high. She was married with a family and I used to bring pizza to her on Fridays sometimes and we'd watch movies. Jodie and I kept in contact through my college years and my early teaching career, living together for a year. I lost contact with her for over 20 years. We reconnected on Facebook. I brought her back to IL in 2020 and she came to live in the woods with my husband and me. We shared lots of coffee, laughs, whiskey, music and Netflix in the movie room!! She was looking forward to being in her little cabin in the woods. We will miss her so. Fly pain free, Jo. I love you. Car

“ My most recent memory was from June 2025. It was late in the evening coming home from bocce n pub dinner. We're on the ridge and she wanted to drive the Mustang. I stopped. We played “Chinese fire drill” swapping places laughing hysterically. Off we went, hair blowing in the wind as she took those dips n curves on that long winding road. Rest easy my ride or die!

“ My heartfelt condolences to Jodie's family, and to her dear friends Carla and Jon. I'd known Jodie since third grade. I remember her being a beauty, with an easy laugh. She could be a tough little chick, too. One time, we both got into trouble in grade school, and the teacher said we were both "obnoxious". We didn't know what that word meant, but it sounded cool to us, and made us secretly laugh. God bless you. Jodie. Rest, now.
