“ I met J.D. on a construction site in 2007 when Aspen Court Apartments was being built in Carbondale. I was technically his boss but he didn't see it that way. Thus, our friendship began immediately. He was the hardest worker and the kindest soul I've ever known. We ended up living together throughout the next decade due to the turbulence of our lives and he was probably the greatest friend I ever had. He was loyal, generous, kind and passionate about the things and people he loved. Whenever my life was chaotic, he stepped in and tried to help as much as he could. I will never forget him. He was truly one of a kind and the best person I've ever known. Rest in Peace, brother.
