ME

“ It is with an extremely heavy heart that I speak to the passing of Judy. She was a loyal, dedicated and much beloved friend. She was a genuinely lovely person.

Judy was the glue that held my company, Classic Gaming Connection, together for years until operation ceased. She understood my idiosyncratic nature and kept me going in a semi-straight line. I couldn't have done it without her. She was the wind in CGC's sails and she keel-hauled my hindquarters many times. She was the little bird on my shoulders saying "NO Mike!".

As she was retired and didn't need to work I know she did what she did out of her enjoyment of people, of being wanted and needed. She was there early and stayed late, even coming in on days off, always in her classic "spirited" mood. I think it helped her stay young and kept her mentally strong. To say she was loyal would be an extreme understatement.

She worked tirelessly for our cause, knowing nothing about the video games industry in the beginning. She quickly adapted and eventually rivaled even myself. I was able to loose my tight grip on the business reigns and let her go without any fear.

I finally managed to get her to play a few video games, which was amusing in its own way. Bless her heart, she actually tried. She was definitely better suited to watching her beloved NASCAR.

I shall definitely miss her and wish her well in the great beyond.

Rest well dear friend! 🥹
