“ Julius was always a kind human being. Such a sweet and gentle soul. Always a determined worker at all he did. He was beloved to my family and was like family for many years. I was honored months back when he came to me to ask for me to pray for him. Never will there be such a sincere person and honest as Julius. He was always real all the time and never changed and never met an enemy. From school and into adulthood he was the kindest to everyone everywhere and his strength and faith he had even in sickness is something one can write a book about. Rest high young man. To be absent with the body is to be present with the Lord.
