“ I remember vividly my dad, Fred Jones having a talk with Kenny right before he was to go into the Army. They were both sitting on the old freezer below the overhang roof at Bob Jones service station. Dad told Kenny what to expect, as he served a tour of duty in Europe in the Army during WWII... He told Kenny all about boot camp, and to follow orders, and to keep out of trouble. He then looked at Kenny, and said, you are so not going to make it are you.. They both laughed, and dad was kidding of course....Fred, like me, had alot of respect for Kenny, and the whole Masterson family....R.I.P. Mopar man.....
