“ I never had a brother that i had the honor of actually getting to know until dean. He was always one i could count on to put a smile on my face. He was always that kid at heart that refused to grow up. And having the honor to work next to him and my step dad larry learning the ins and outs of laying tile is something i will forever hold dear to my heart. There was definetely never a dull moment when dean was around. He will be so missed.

“ Last time I saw Dean was at a family reunion in October 2014. He was so pleasant and happy. I was glad he came with his family. His uncle Danny Stoffel and cousin Brian Dean were happy to see him.
