By Nathan Warren in memory of my Brother Link Warren. A Warren body.

*One that's tried and true,
I rest here today
nothing more I can do.
A body worn
It was such a delight Until every day
was a battle and a fight
And fight I did
Until this body Warren lived all its days
and became a body torn.
Warren body
body worn so restless
so tired
I'm near the end.
Lord what's to transpire
I've been so patient, I've put in my time
but if you don't mind
I'd like to be next in line.
For this body Warren,
so tried and true
Has become a body torn, and I'm afraid that it's through
And in that moment,
God replied
"I'll take this worn body and let you soar high"
"I'll give back your lost family, I'll even give you wings,"
"But I'm afraid all this will come with a sting."
"For those bodies, Warren
Yet not bodies torn Will all stay behind in suffering and to mourn."
But lord I wish not
For my family's suffering They've been through so much
And it's the last thing they need
So if you don't mind
One more favor, you see
When they become sad Tell them to pray with me*

*I'm in a better place
With no more suffering
Warren body's a torn body
But his soul lives indefinitely.
Rest in peace Uncle Link*

*BY RODNEY DUNN....I Love my uncle Link, 🍷 I keep hearing my Mom's laughter as she talks about being younger and getting the wind knocked out of her and trying to get Uncle Link to pat her on the back as he demands to know "Who hit you on the back?". My uncle was quite stern and came across often as grouchy to many people, but this man most of his life spent what most people would call "free time" or "relax time" helping family and friends along with strangers " My mom sooo loves her brother I pray for comfort to my cousin Paula in the painful loss of her Father,, I want her to know just how great of a man she has in a Father from other people's eyes, Her Father has changed so many lives in a good way from Illinois to Massachusetts.
Love you Uncle Link*
