“ Meeting and becoming friends with Lynda was a gift from God. He gave me the sister that I never had. We've laughed together and cried together. Even when 600+ miles separated us; we kept in touch. During the early part of our friendship; we did the new craze at the time JAZZERCIZE. We were doing an exercise called the Doggie Kicks when Russ walked in the room. We were quite embarrassed and started to giggle and couldn't stop. When Russ started to tease us the more " like school girls" we giggled. Following these strenuous exercises we would quite often eat "out of this world" cinnamon rolls baked by Grandma (Russ's Mom). Our antics of exercise often put a sly smile on Grandma's face. Lynda and I were together when I got the news that my husband Casey was indefinitely laid off. We were watching TV when the news of the layoff was broadcast. We didn't know it at that time but things were going to change Big Time. The following year my family moved to Union City, TN and prior to leaving Lynda and I held each other and cried. We never lost touch! Even when Lynda and Russ moved to Texas we got together. I loved Lynda "heart and soul" and always will. I look forward to that day when we will meet again and this time there will be no more tears-only joy!

“ Lynda, you fought the good fight with courage and grace. You will not only be missed, you will be dearly remembered. Thank you for the people you cared for in my life and the people you cared about in my life for you made their lives fuller as well. You always had a remarkable way of wiggling your way into people's hearts, so as you continue your walk on the other side of life, I know you will do the same there. God Bless you and love you Lynda.
With Love, Angela Joy Britt-Braun
