“ Our deepest condolences go out to the Barger family.

I know there is nothing I can say to you that will fill the void in your heart and in your life. I remember my Mom's death like it was yesterday and continually find myself wanting to call her or to drop by and show her how big the kids are getting. When she died, I could only describe the experience as surreal. I can only offer up the hope that over time your grief will be overcome with good memories of your relationship with your Mom and her love for you.

I did not know your Mom, but wish I did. I do know that for the most part, kids are typically a reflection of their parents, which would suggest she was pretty amazing. Ralph Waldo Emerson once said, "Men are what their mothers made them," and if you are a reflection of that, she certainly did her job well. I'm sure she was very proud of you and all of your accomplishments.

I hope our thoughts and prayers lift you and your family up during this difficult time.

God bless you,

Jim and Shazell Dunn
