“ This is very hard I cannot come see you to say my goodbyes because I didn't want to see you like that. I was happy with the last time that I seen you a month and a half ago the two months ago when I came down and you got to see Tyra for the first time in years and we sat there and we talked for a little while and we laughed and joked around this is a very hard time for I know your family and your kids and your grandkids but you were a very awesome woman and helped me out so much I could never have repaid you not even in a lifetime you are going to be very very missed truly. I will be lighting a candle tonight in your memory I love you

“ I adored Mary Jane. She was the mother and grandmother of some of my students. I loved those children (still do) and I believe she knew that because she and I worked well together educating them. I was always happy to see Mary Jane. She was clear and open about her feelings, and that made our relationship easy and even pleasant. I'll miss her deeply.
