“ During my first year of teaching at A-J I was assigned a freshman English class which included a beautiful, energetic, fun-loving, sweet, and extremely popular blonde girl named Sandy Tucker. Needless to say, she was the spark that lit that class each day. Sandy was full of life and it rubbed off on the entire class. That was my "Welcome Back Kotter" class and I loved it and Sandy was such a big part of everything that made it fun. I am so proud of her and what she accomplished in life and her chosen profession. And the family she loved so much. I shall not forget her. Please accept my deepest regrets.

“ Angie and Bradley, and Chris,
I am so sorry for your loss. I wish I was in town to be there for you but I just can't make it at this time. What can I say about Sandy except that if she liked you, you were in. We became friends in High School, and always stayed friends. Brian and I threw the party for her and Richard when they got married, and what a party it was. No one will forget it. When your Dad was driving the big truck, he came to look me up when I lived in Arizona. He stayed 2 days and Sandy was not a happy camper. She wasn't worried about me she was worried about my roommate. Needless to say she got a little jealous. Buy the time I came home she was fine with it. I wish you peace and love Sandy and I will miss you always. With Love, Cheryl Rion
