

Sir Frederick "Cousin Fred" Cadbury

April 26, 2011

Sir Frederick of Cadbury, better known as Cousin Fred, passed away at 11:15 a.m. Tuesday, April 26, 2011, at the veterinary's office, due to complications from a broken leg.

Mr. Pet-It had died and Patches was a very private bunny. She did not enjoy getting out of her cage after Mr. Pet-It was gone. We wondered what we were going to do and God always provides help and care just at the right time.

On March 21, 2007, the first day of spring, Cousin Fred came to the funeral home to help Patches greet the children of all ages. He was a solid white bunny and looked like the Cadbury bunny. He was very eager to follow in his cousin's footsteps.

Because he looked so regal, we named Cousin Fred--Sir Frederick of Cadbury. He was a bunny that was found along side of the road and brought to us, however, we did not have any "official" documents regarding his pedigree. So, Chuck researched what we should do and we wrote a letter to the Queen of England; requesting that she knight Cousin Fred, because of what he does for the community at the funeral home.

After many weeks, an airmail letter came from Buckingham Palace, with the official stationary with the Palace embossed on it. The letter was from a lady in waiting which is one of the Queen's secretaries. She stated that the Queen had read our letter and only gave titles to her loyal subjects, but the Queen wished Sir Frederick of Cadbury well at his endeavors at the funeral home.

We do not know of any rabbit that has a letter from Buckingham Palace wishing him well, so as far as we are concerned her reference to Sir Frederick of Cadbury is as good as a Knighthood.

Cousin Fred served very "royally" as the owner of Pettett Funeral Home, following in the footsteps of his cousin, Mr. Pet-It.

He will be greatly missed by all the families that he comforted!

Tribute Wall

“ Sir Frederick "Cousin Fred" Cadbury

October 23, 2023 at 06:26 AM

“ So sorry to hear about Cousin Fred's passing. He will be missed by many.

*Love,
Sue & Ken*

Sue & Ken Peterein - April 28, 2011 at 01:10 AM

“ So sorry for your loss. We get so attached to the little critters and love them like family. I'm sure he will missed by many, especially the children.

Elaine Ude - April 27, 2011 at 01:53 PM

“ He will be missed by all the lives he has touched.

Joyce Fields - April 26, 2011 at 09:35 PM